SCHOOL BOND PAID OFF

Treas. H. A. Haynes Pays off Last Old School Bond of $2,000.00

H. A. Haynes, the treasurer for Marien Graded School district, has paid off the last $2,000, bond of the old issue which was sold to build the main building. This is indeed a fine showing for the board and leaves the district free of the debt except the new bonds of $5,000. which were sold two years ago to build the auditorium and new chapel.

When the high character of the school maintained here is considered, coupled with the fact that the building is now heated by a new steam radiator system and has new opera chairs in the auditorium, is really remarkable that the sinking fund has been sufficient to retire the old bonds so quickly. Great credit is due the school board and each citizen of the district should "hold up their hand" in all matters touching this the greatest of Marion's enterprises. LASHED TO A COW

Oakland City Lad Dragged Through Lumber Yard --- Skull is Fractured.

Oakland City, Ind., May 30 .-Bennie Boone, aged nine years, son of William Boone, a well known resident, is lying at the point of death as the result of injuries sustained in an accident here.

The lad was driving a cow to pasture when he decided to tie the rope around his body. He had not been lashed to the cow in this manner long before she became frightened and began to run through Molly Crawford's lumber yard.

The boy was thrown violently against a post and lumber stack and his head was badly bruised and his scalp as large as the hand was torn reputation. from his head and he was rendered unconscious. Had the rope not been broken in two it is likely the boy would have been killed outright.

Immediately after the accident young Boone was taken to his home and Dr. R. S. Mason was summoned to dress his injuries. There were no broken bones as far as he could discover, except a bad fracture of

The boy has not gained consciousness since the accident and practically all hope of his recovery has been abandoned.

Recovered After Three Years.

Paducah, Ky., May 29 .- An imcollie valued at $3,000 was stolen at Paducah three years ago from the Gentry Bros.' Dog and Pony Show. The proprietors sent a negro ahead nine months ago to locate the dog if possible. He spotted a puppy and Paducah detectives located the dog on a farm near Paducah. She had been stolen by a prominent Paduchan who had given her to the farmer, a relative. The dog is of the finest Scottish breed, and was returned to the show men at Mayfield. A circus hand assisted in the theft for ten cents. No prosecution will follow.

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE.

Public and Private Methods Contrasted-Organization vs. Aggregation.

One controlling economic reason for opposing public ownership is that every individual in society prospers just in proportion as industry gets the best there is in human capability. On the other hand, government control and direction never get and in the nature of things never can get all there is or the best there is in human capability.

Now the government may compete with private enterprise in getting capable men, but it has not thus far shown anything of the capacity of a man always to the right place. The agency which in private enterprise succeeds so generally in eventually landing in the right place the right man is not simply good intention or mere intelligence, but the intelligence and intention which constantly study Mrs. Thos. F. Ryan, wife of the enterprise in hand, which make it the one affair in life, constantly thought of and planned for-an intelligence and intention, too, which are themselves as nearly as possible permanent. That kind of seeking out and watchfulness few government departligent and well intentioned, but they are in today and out tomorrow. The thing under them is not their child. They never, as a matter of fact, get

Nor will civil service change this. Civil service examinations may secure capable men, but no civil service examination can assign the right man to the right place, can pick out of the thousand capable men just the kind of capability that is fitted to this place and private control the difference in that respect is almost the exact difference between what we call true organization and what is the merest aggregation, for in private enterprise each man has come by a process of attrition to the place he is best fitted to fill, while in government employment each man is dropped into his place irrespective of special fitness and under civil service is riveted there .--Hon. Peter S. Grosscup in American

LITTLE INDIVIDUALISM THERE.

Why Public Ownership Is Popular In European Countries.

In Europe governments are largely paternal because of the lack of individualism. The very helplessness of the people fosters and necessitates pamunicipal governments operate public utilities. Under a monarchy, for that

It is just because of our individualism that socialistic institutions and co-operative schemes never prosper here.-Newark (N. J.) Ad-

Officials Already Overloaded.

A third general objection to government agency rests on the principle of the division of labor. Every additional function undertaken by the government is a fresh occupation imposed on a body already overcharged with phaetons, carriages and surreys can duties. A natural consequence is that most things are ill done, much not done at all, because the government is not able to do it without delays which are fatal to its purpose; that the more troublesome and less showy of the functions undertaken are postponed and neglected, and an excuse is always ready for the neglect, while the heads of the administration have their minds so fully taken up with official detail, in however perfunctory a manner superintended, that they have no time or thought to spare for the great interests of the state and the preparation of enlarged measures of sound improvement .- John Stuart Mill.

A Trade Union Inconsistency.

One of the anomalies of trades unionism is the demand for "closed shops" and the advocacy of municipal ownership when it is inevitable that every industry transferred from private to public ownership will become an "open shop." In public employment all conditions and wages of labor must be determined by laws and ordinances. No law excluding nonunion men from public employment can stand the test of its constitutionality.-Public Policy.

BESSEMER STEEL.

Just What It Is and What It Ha Made Possible.

Most persons are unaware of the revolytion created in industrial circles by the introduction of the bessemer process of making steel. This process belongs in the same category with the invention of the printing press and the introduction of the steam engine in its relation to human progress.

Steel is a compound of iron with a small percentage of carbon, which is rendered malleable by being cast while in a state of fusion. Cast iron is iron with a much larger percentage of carprivate enterprise to assign the right bon and other impurities. Bessemer's process converts cast iron into steel by blowing a blast of cold air through melted cast iron. The oxygen of the air burns out the carbon, silicon and other unwelcome elements until the right proportion is reached, and then the steel is cast. .

The effect of the process was at once to cheapen steel and to increase its use printed on one side only, and generenormously. In 1855, when Bessemer took out his first patent, steel sold in England for five times its present

Sir Henry Bessemer shared the comincredulity when his discovery was first announced, but he was more fortunate than most inventors. He lived adoption of his process.

The first bessemer steel rail ever laid down was at Derby, England, in 1857. It was placed at a point where it had been necessary to renew the iron rails once in three months because of incessant wear. It was not taken up for sixteen years, during which time 1,250,000 trains passed over it.

It is to the bessemer process that we owe the rapid development of our great railway systems. The giant locomotives that draw long trains across the continent and the steel rails upon which they run are due to its discovery. It is estimated that the bessemer process has reduced the cost of land transportation two-thirds, and it has also greatly cheapened transportation by water. It has opened great tracts of fertile country which could not have been reached otherwise and has given the farmer good markets. In the development of electric railways it is all the time bringing together scattered villages and giving new opportunities for intercourse.

We owe to Sir Henry Bessemer the improvements in our modern steamships, the strength and lightness of the bridges which cross our rivers, countless modern forms of machinery and their cheapened products and the skyscrapers, which could not have been built save by the use of steel.-New York Herald.

The Island of Jersey.

There was a time when a reverend bishop always walked from France to Jersey on a plank. This sounds somewhat like a modern Blondin performance, and one could imagine the crowd that would assemble to witness such a feat. In reality it was an event of common occurrence during the sixth century. Existing documents relative to the monastery of Mont St. Michel, in Normandy, reveal the fact that the island was separated from the French district of Coutances by a narrow stream only and that the stream was bridged by a single plank. The inhabitants of Jersey were compelled to keep this plank in good repair, for it was used by the bishop of the diocese when he made his periodical visits to that portion of his flock, and the worthy prelate desired to make the crossing in safety. In the year 709 and again in the year 824 there were seismic disturbances, called by ancient writers "cataclysms," which submerged towns and forests on the French coast, thus widening the stretch of water and making the separation of Jersey more complete.-London Stand-

Thinking that perhaps by turning from the abstract to the concrete she might succeed better in stimulating his power of recollection, the teacher tried another tack.

"Yes, ma'am." "Well, now, think as hard as you can. He sometimes sells a gallon can full of milk, doesn't he? Just so. Well. when he does, how many pints of milk are there in that gallon can?"

"Put Into a Book." Thomas Mitton was Dickens' solicitor as well as his schoolfellow and used to say that he was the only one of all of "Charlie's" friends whom the novelist had never "put into a book." Mitton's hearers smiled inwardly, because they recognized obvious pieces of Mitton in several of the novels, the most conspicuous fragments being in Wemmick ("Great Expectations") and Tappertit ("Barnaby Rudge"). Not much in common, it may be said, between these two eccentrics. Nevertheless, life being more various and more inconsistent than fiction, there he was visibly. Dickens was greatly and long attached to him, and it was in a letter to the lawyer that he described most admirably the frightful railway accident from which he escaped physically unhurt, but gravely shaken in nerve .-London Chronicle.

It is to be noted that exact information is sadly lacking in these maritime reports. This may be due in part to the fact that one-third the space of the broadside was needed for "A Poem on the Late Hurricane," in 14 verses. One was as follows:

A Monster Wildcat.

M. H. Ruiz, yesterday brought to town the skin of the biggest wildcat ever seen in this part of the country, says the Arizona Republican. He killed it day before yesterday along the Arizona canal. There were four of the cats, one of them, says Ruiz, bigger than the one he killed, but it was not so belligerent.

This cat, instead of running away, advanced upon him, growling and spitting. The animal was about to spring when Ruiz shot, the ball taking effect in the head, killing it instantly. The skin was more than four feet from tip to tip. The length of a wildcat is mostly in its body, for the tail does not greatly affect the linear measurement. This cat was bigger than some mountain lions and it was probably more destructive.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany-with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt-I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need-no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE.

Public and Private Methods Contrasted-Organization vs. Aggregation.

One controlling economic reason for opposing public ownership is that every individual in society prospers just the introduction of the bessemer procin proportion as industry gets the best there is in human capability. LITTLE INDIVIDUALISM THERE.

Why Public Ownership Is Popular In European Countries.

In Europe governments are largely paternal because of the lack of individualism. The very helplessness of the people fosters and necessitates pamunicipal governments operate public utilities. Under a monarchy, for that

It is just because of our individualism that socialistic institutions and co-operative schemes never prosper here.-Newark (N. J.) Ad-

Officials Already Overloaded.

A third general objection to government agency rests on the principle of the division of labor. Every additional function undertaken by the government is a fresh occupation imposed on a body already overcharged with phaetons, carriages and surreys can duties. A natural consequence is that most things are ill done, much not done at all, because the government is not able to do it without delays which are fatal to its purpose; that the more ard. troublesome and less showy of the functions undertaken are postponed and neglected, and an excuse is always ready for the neglect, while the heads of the administration have their minds so fully taken up with official detail, in however perfunctory a manner superintended, that they have no time or thought to spare for the great interests of the state and the preparation of enlarged measures of sound improvement .- John Stuart Mill.

A Trade Union Inconsistency.

One of the anomalies of trades unionism is the demand for "closed shops" and the advocacy of municipal ownership when it is inevitable that every industry transferred from private to public ownership will become an "open shop." In public employment all conditions and wages of labor must be determined by laws and ordinances. No law excluding nonunion men from public employment can stand the test of its constitutionality.—Public Policy.

BESSEMER STEEL.

What It Is and What It Has Made Possible.

Most persons are unaware of the revolytion created in industrial circles by ess of making steel. This process belongs in the same category with the inother hand, government control and di- vention of the printing press and the introduction of the steam engine in its

The process converts cast iron into steel by blowing a blast of cold air through melted cast iron. The oxygen of the landing in the right place the right air burns out the carbon, silicon and

The effect of the process was at once enormously. In 1855, when Bessemer took out his first patent, steel sold in England for five times its present

The first bessemer steel rail ever laid down was at Derby, England, in 1857. It was placed at a point where it had been necessary to renew the iron rails once in three months because of incessant wear. It was not taken up for sixteen years, during which time 1,250,000 trains passed over it.

It is to the bessemer process that we owe the rapid development of our great and private control the difference in railway systems. The giant locomotives that draw long trains across the continent and the steel ralls upon which they run are due to its discovery. It is estimated that the bessemer process has reduced the cost of land attrition to the place he is best fitted transportation two-thirds, and it has to fill, while in government employ- also greatly cheapened transportation by water. It has opened great tracts of fertile country which could not have been reached otherwise and has given the farmer good markets. In the development of electric railways it is all the time bringing together scattered villages and giving new opportunities for intercourse

We owe to Sir Henry Bessemer the improvements in our modern steamships, the strength and lightness of the bridges which cross our rivers, countless modern forms of machinery and their cheapened products and the skyscrapers, which could not have been built save by the use of steel .- New York Herald.

The Island of Jersey.

There was a time when a reverend bishop always walked from France to Jersey on a plank. This sounds somewhat like a modern Blondin performance, and one could imagine the crowd that would assemble to witness such a feat. In reality it was an event of common occurrence during the sixth century. Existing documents relative to the monastery of Mont St. Michel, in Normandy, reveal the fact that the island was separated from the French district of Coutances by a narrow stream only and that the stream was bridged by a single plank. The inhabitants of Jersey were compelled to keep this plank in good repair, for it was used by the bishop of the diocese when he made his periodical visits to that portion of his flock, and the worthy prelate desired to make the crossing in safety. In the year 709 and again in the year 824 there were seismic disturbances, called by ancient writers "cataclysms," which submerged towns and forests on the French coast, thus widening the stretch of water and making the separation of Jersey more complete .-- London Stand-

"Well, now, think as hard as you can. He sometimes sells a gallon can full of milk, doesn't he? Just so. Well. when he does, how many pints of milk are there in that gallon can?"

"It's all milk, ma'am?" indignantly exclaimed Bobby .- Youth's Companion.

"Put Into a Book."

Thomas Mitton was Dickens' solicitor as well as his schoolfellow and used to say that he was the only one of all of "Charlie's" friends whom the novelist had never "put into a book." Mitton's hearers smiled inwardly, because they recognized obvious pieces of Mitton in several of the novels, the most conspicuous fragments being in Wemmick ("Great Expectations") and Tappertit ("Barnaby Rudge"). Not much in common, it may be said, between these two eccentrics. Nevertheless, life being more various and more inconsistent than fiction, there he was visibly. Dickens was greatly and long attached to him, and it was in a letter to the lawyer that he described most admirably the frightful railway accident from which he escaped physically unburt, but gravely shaken in nerve .-London Chronicle.

GOT OUT AN "EXTRA"

CIRCULATION OF THE NEWS A CENTURY AGO.

Old "Broadside" Recently Found in Boston Compares Oddly with the Practical Journalism of the Present Day.

An interesting example of the method of putting important news before the public a century ago was found in an old news-sheet, or "broadside" recently turned up in a second-hand book dealer's shop in Boston.

Any printer, whether he issued a newspaper or not, got out broadsides other unwelcome elements until the in those days, whenever he thought mere intelligence, but the intelligence right proportion is reached, and then an extraordinary piece of news justified him in anticipating a profit, The broadside was a sort of handbill, to cheapen steel and to increase its use printed on one side only, and generally about 8 inches wide by 15 long. This was sold in the streets.

The subject of the broadside mentioned above was a hurricane which swept the Massachusetts coast a few mon lot of inventors in encountering days prior to Oct. 15, 1804, the date on which the broadside was issued. ful acquiescence of the pupils to the teacher's suggestions, made the afternoon a success. The thanks of the school are due to Kev. W. E. Charles, who conducted the devotional exercises and rendered a beautiful solo and to Mr. J. R. Glass, who delivered a most appropriate address. The "Diploma of Honor" was awarded to Miss Annie Leon Yancy who during the term was absent from the school room only in one recitation. The diploma was presented by Rev. W. E. Charles with thoughts hapily

After the distribution of rewards to the pupils and a few comments by the teacher on the work accomplished during the term, "God be with you" was feelingly sung by all present. The sincerest thanks of Mrs. Barnes are tendered to the sweet young girls and helpful boys of the school and to Desha Breckinridge, Lexington the trustees and patrons for their William Adams, Cynthiana, and co-operation. May the work begun in this school find its culmination not only in the coming years of life but in the limitless beyond.

company with others; you will find an entirely new side to your child's character; if there is a domineering or obstinate spirit it will manifest itself. With parents or older people a child is more or less restrained, but with children he will live out his true nature.

The work of education must have first of all, for its foundation, the self-concentration of the mother. Every ray of sintelligence, and every indication of character must be caught and studied. The training of a child is not accomplished by a flash of one inspired hour, but by the patient mother work of every day; however much we owe to others for help in our child training, if the heart and soul of the mother is not found in the work, the child heart can never beathe same in its influence and power. We can not trust to chance or convenience to produce a masterpiece. It is a great undertaking to build a bridge to be entrusted with human life, but the responsibility is incomparably greater in framing and girding a character that must stand through the eternal ages.

HE NEVER BLAMED THE BOOZE

He took a bottle up to bed, Drank whisky hot each night, Drank cocktails in the morning, But never could get tight, He shivered in the evening

And always had the blues, Until he took a bowl or two----But he never blamed the booze.

His appetite was slack; He had pains between his shoulders, Chills ran down his back. He suffered with insomnia.

At night he couldn't snooze, He said it was the climate ---But he never blamed the booze.

His constitution was run down, At least that's what he said; His legs were swelled each morning,

And he often had a swell head He tackled beer, wine, whisky And if they didn't fuse.

He blamed to dyspepsia --But he never blamed the booze.

He said he couldn't sleep at night. And always had bad dreams: He claimed he always laid awake

Till early sunrise beams; He thought is was malaria. Alas! 'twas but a ruse:

He blamed unto everything --But never blamed the booze. --- Fort Worth Telegram.

Epilepsy Fits St. Vitus Dance

Are nerve diseases, and unless checked, lead to destruction of both mind and body. The weak, shattered nerves must have something to strengthen and build them back to health. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a remarkable nerve tonic and stimulant. It strengthens the nerves, relieves the nervous strain, and influences refreshing body-building sleep and rest. Persistent use seldom fails to relieve these afflictions.

"I was taken with epileptic fits; had eleven in less than 12 hours. My father sent for our family physician, but he could do very little for me, and I grew worse every day, and at last they had three doctors with me, and I still got worse. My father heard of Dr. Miles' medicines and bought a bottle of Nervine and a box of Nerve and Liver Pills. I had taken only a few doses until I began to feel better. I took 12 bottles, and it cured me sound and well. It has been worth all the world to me. I recommend it wherever I go. You may use this as a life-long testimonial to the merits of your medicine, for I am enjoying the best of health, and feel that my life and health is due to this wonderful medicine."

Cumberland River Traffic.

The importance of traffic on the Cumberland river is evidenced by the announcement made by H. W. Buttorff, manufacturer and capitalist, of Nashville, to the effect that a river depot will be built at the north end of the wharf in that city. This will give Nashville's river front a commanding appearance, an effect that has been largely produced by the building of the Illinois Central and Southern Railway passenger depot and freight sheds. The purpose of the river depot is to enable shippers to deliver their consignments to the steamboat companies at any time, instead of having to wait until the boat comes to the wharf, as they now have to do .-- Livington

Watch your neighbor and if he is doing well, imitate him, but rather make it a point for your neighbor

The farmers are greatly behind with their work as there is so much | rainy weather that the plows can't | run enough to keep the weeds killed

Some are setting tobacco now, but plants are awfully scarce.

June came in cloudy and rainy. Sunday School at this place every Sunday evening at 3 o'clock.

All nature is joining hands these days in an effort to make man happy, the trees are putting on their best spring dress. The birds are singing their latest and most popular songs, and the sun smiles and laughs from the time it rises with a bounce to the time it reluctantly hides its face in the West. The man who isn't happy under such surroundings is out of harmony with the world, ping Thursday. some how.
